

EVA MIDGLEY

Dutch born writer-director Eva Midgley trained as a dancer, followed by a BA in Media Studies. After a brief stint at advertising agency DDB Needham, she became fashion editor of "AD Magazine" in the Netherlands. Her first short film, "Honey and Bunny," was a response to the male dominated view of female sexuality. Her collaborations with Coco de Mer, for whom she wrote and directed 8 art films were screened worldwide at festivals and won numerous awards, including Winner of the "Destriected" competition in London. In 2010, her short film "Peep Show" was part of the official selection at LA Shorts Fest and Hollyshorts. She has directed commercials for many of the world's biggest beauty brands including Nivea, L'Oreal and SKII.
